this publication serves as a companion volume to Josef Hoffmann Interiors 1902 1913. It documents the installation of this extraordinary exhibition which opened at the Neue Galerie New York in November 2006. Four entire Hoffmann rooms were recreated for the exhibition: a girl's bedroom from the Max Biach apartment Vienna 1902; a bedroom from the Hans Salzer apartment Vienna 1902; the dining room from the apartment of Jerome Stonborough and Margaret Stonborough Wittgenstein Berlin 1905; and the dining room from the apartment of the Swiss painter Ferdinand Hodler Geneva 1913. Christian Witt Dörring, curator of decorative arts for the Neue Galerie, details the painstaking process of assembling materials for these interiors both from an aesthetic and a practical standpoint. In the process he reveals how a curator takes on the challenge of bringing the work of a major designer to life. The result is a publication that displays the work of Josef Hoffmann as it was meant to be seen in color and as a series of fully realized ensembles book jacket

the viennese café was a key site of urban modernity around 1900 in the rapidly growing city it functioned simultaneously as home and workplace affording opportunities for both leisure and intellectual exchange this volume explores the nature and function of the coffeehouse in the social cultural and political world of fin de siècle vienna just as the café served as a creative meeting place within the city so this volume initiates conversations between different disciplines focusing on vienna at the beginning of the twentieth century contributions are drawn from the fields of social and cultural history literary studies jewish studies and art and architectural and design history a fresh perspective is also provided by a selection of comparative articles exploring coffeehouse culture elsewhere in eastern europe while the domestic sphere might seem tangential to the dire political situation and humanitarian crises of interwar europe it was nevertheless at the forefront of debates about cultural identity and economic policy in the viennese press culture and arts vienna and the new wohnkultur 1918 1938 explores why and how the viennese design landscape was set apart aesthetically and theoretically from other european explorations of modern design jackson beckett examines interior design exhibitions press and debates about modern living in interwar vienna an overlooked area of modern european architecture and design history arguing for a reconsideration of the contours of european modernism the text analyses varied interpretations of modern domestic culture wohnkultur in vienna and explores why these interpretations were distinct from other strands of european modernism vienna and the new wohnkultur introduces new research and translation of primary sources on flexible adaptable and affordable design by architects designers and retailers vienna s design discourse also prefigured important postmodern and contemporary discussions on historicism eclecticism empathy and user experience through extensive new research in archival and period sources jackson beckett illustrates how design ideas taste and portrayals of domestic culture of fin de siècle viennese modernism wiener moderne were also deployed as forms of cultural and national identity both during the early years of the social democratic government in vienna 1918 1934 and later under the fascist state 1934 1938
